

February 27, 2014

High Liner Foods Wins McDonald's Canada's 2014 Sustainability Award!

On Monday, February 24, 2014 at the McDonald's Supplier Summit held in Toronto, High Liner Foods was awarded the McDonald's Canada 2014 Sustainability Award. High Liner Foods was presented with the award for, "Demonstration of real excellence in efforts relative to sustainability through an extensive range of actions and initiatives, including: Significant leadership in, and partnership with, global multi-stakeholder sustainable fishery and aquaculture programs and initiatives, as well as strong support for credible eco-certification standards which informed and supported McDonald's Canada as we completed our own Marine Stewardship Council Chain of Custody certification in 2013."

(Left Photo) Noble Carlton, Director National Accounts and Ron Walters, Director Food Service Marketing accept the McDonald's Canada Sustainability Supplier of the Year Award on behalf of High Liner Foods
(Right Photo) The 2014 Sustainability Award

Congratulations to everyone who has made this award possible!