

UPDATED FOOD RECALL WARNING (ALLERGEN)

Various High Liner, High Liner Captain's Crew and Portico Bounty® brands of breaded fish and seafood products recalled due to undeclared milk

April 21, 2017: The food recall warning issued by the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) on April 14, 2017, has been updated to include additional product information.

High Liner Foods is recalling various High Liner, High Liner Captain's Crew and Portico Bounty® brands of breaded fish and seafood products due to an inclusion of a Milk allergen that was not properly represented on the ingredient label and allergen statement. People with an allergy to milk should not consume the recalled products described below. Distributors, retailers and foodservice establishments such as hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, hospitals and nursing homes should not sell or use these recalled products. These products are sold in Canada only.

A full listing of the recalled products is noted below or the full news release can be accessed on the CFIA's website using the following link: <http://www.inspection.gc.ca/about-the-cfia/newsroom/food-recall-warnings/complete-listing/2017-04-21/eng/1492826481927/1492826485405>
